WHO ARE YOU TRYING TO REACH? · REP TARGETING GUIDE

100 venues across 3 markets

The hard question is never “what does it cost” — the tool answers that in ten seconds. It is “which screens do I actually want?” Find the prospect’s business below, read the mix, then build it or send the package. Every mix is a starting point, not a product — the tool prices any combination.

DWELL PLAYS — BE ABSORBED

Long sits, so the same person sees the ad up to 6 times a visit (the engine caps it there). Rinks 120 min, bars 75, airport 70, gyms 65, parks 60, salon & nail chairs 55. Best when the message needs explaining.

REACH PLAYS — BE EVERYWHERE

Short stops, huge counts. Gas & c-store ~450 visits/day, shopping centers ~400, parks ~250, coffee ~180, restaurants and liquor ~175. Best for a name, a price or a date.

35 venues · Oxford 24 · Tupelo 6 · Starkville 15 · fills the 10, 20 & 40-screen packages

Homeowners, seated, not in a hurry. Bars average a 75-minute dwell and barber chairs 55 — long enough for the whole offer to land, several times.

“Nobody shops for a roofer on a screen. They remember a name when the hail hits. You want to be the name they already know without knowing why.”

Reach beats dwell here — you need volume right before the hunger decision. Gas & c-stores run ~450 visits/day and shopping centers ~400, the two busiest room types on the network.

“Hungry people decide in the parking lot. We put you on the screen they are already staring at while the tank fills.”

Trust is built by repetition in respectable rooms. Office lobbies and clinic waiting areas put you next to people already thinking about paperwork, payments and planning.

“You are not closing a mortgage on a screen. You are making sure that when they finally walk in, yours is the name they have seen all year.”

Everyone in every one of these rooms drives. Skating rinks hold families a full 120 minutes — the longest dwell on the network — and gas lanes catch the same drivers weekly.

“Every person in that room drove there. You are not looking for a niche — you are looking for repetition in front of drivers.”

The self-care circuit. Someone in a tanning bed, a nail chair or a smoothie line has already decided to spend money on looking and feeling better — you are the next step, not a cold ask.

“They already bought the tan and the smoothie. Your ad is not interrupting that decision, it is finishing it.”

BUY IT IN TWO MINUTES

mctvofms.com/rate-quote

Build the mix, price it instantly, then e-sign right on the page. Hand the prospect your phone and let them pick their own rooms.

Lead with the 20-screen package at $500 — more screens for the same money than a hand-picked buy that size, and the fastest yes. Use the mix to tell them which 20 rooms. "Fills the ... package" means the mix is deep enough on its own; a bigger package pulls the rest from anywhere on the network. Go à la carte for these specific venues or a whole market — 10+ screens takes 20% off. Per-venue rates are on the market rate sheets; the quote tool is authoritative.
